

Pedestrians and Drivers

Everyone is a pedestrian at some time, and most know to keep their distance from moving traffic. Despite that, pedestrians were among the few categories of road users where deaths rose, accounting for 14% of total traffic fatalities. We can expect that one pedestrian will be injured every 8 minutes and one will die every 2 hours in a traffic crash this year. What we know is that pedestrians and drivers do not obey laws and signals consistently. Only 60% of pedestrians said they expected drivers to stop when they were in crosswalks, even though they have the right-of-way.

What can you as a driver do:

- Look out for pedestrians, especially in hard-to-see conditions such as at night or in bad weather.
- Slow down and be prepared to stop when turning or entering a crosswalk where pedestrians are likely to be.
- Stop at the crosswalk stop line to give drivers in other lanes an opportunity to see and yield to the pedestrians, too.
- Be cautious when backing up – pedestrians, especially young children, can move across your path.
- Remember that pedestrians have the right-of-way

What can you do as a pedestrian:

- Be predictable. Follow the rules of the road, cross at crosswalks or intersections, and obey signs and signals.
- Walk facing traffic and as far from traffic as possible if there is no sidewalk.
- Pay attention to the traffic moving around you. This is not the time to be texting or talking on a cell phone.
- Make eye contact with drivers as they approach. Never assume a driver sees you.
- Wear bright clothing during the day and reflective materials (or use a flashlight) at night.
- Look left-right-left before crossing a street.
- Do not jaywalk

Don't forget that safety is a shared responsibility for all road users, including drivers and pedestrians!
